Commissioiners Tackle Agenda

by Susan Wilder

All nine Leon County Commissioners were present at their last regular meeting of the month on Tuesday, with Judge Byron Ryder presiding.

Judge Ryder gave a brief update on plans to improve safety at the bus stop at the High School in Leonard, which was held on paving Medical Drive, but it was held on paving Humphries Street and was scheduled for October as "Treasure Your Home" month, presented by Danford.

Commissioners took a short break to see the burn ban for the county until June 30, which was approved.

The court approved a donation of $2,000 to the City of Buffalo for a new nursing home on Highway 79. The concern was that while the city has a "good process" for fixing water main breaks, the process may create road damage, so it was approved to reject the construction before removing the two roads.

Commissioner Joe Rojas announced that there has been concrete delivered and the re-paving the front door area at the Health Resource Center was started.

Another major project discussed was the Leon County Central Appraisal District Board of Directors' position by the Buffalo Independent School District Board. The contract for storing the City of Buffalo Property Tax was approved.

The police department is the first step of a possible plan to continue to replace the old water lines on East Railroad Street. This project will cost the city over $100,000. The project will be completed in two phases, the completion of the lines that are currently being replaced on East High ty.

The council voted to approve accepting this donation from PTS of Lubbock, Texas to the Fair Defense Act.

Approval was given for the Leon County Traffic Ordinance for the Buffalo ISD Tax Reimbursement Election to be held in conjunction with the November 8th Constitutional Amendment Election and the City of Lena Local Option Election.
